OLD NAVY: THIS WAY AHEAD RECAP

Old Navy's This Way Ahead program is a workforce readiness program that provides our teens (ages 16+) with employment opportunities. This program gives our youth a foot in the door for a first job. It gives them the opportunity to gain work experience, develop a skill set, and build a professional network. Old Navy's This Way Ahead program's mission aligns with the College Bound's mission of providing all students with the resources they need to help them reach their full potential and see that a higher education and opportunity is achievable despite any financial barriers/ adversities they might have. This year, six high school seniors participated in the Career Fair that took place on October 29th, hosted by the Burbank Old Navy General Manager - Vicky Strozykowski. During the Career Fair, teens received a virtual tour of the Burbank Old Navy store, learned about the various positions, participated in a Q&A session and were interviewed for a potential job.

Out of the six seniors:

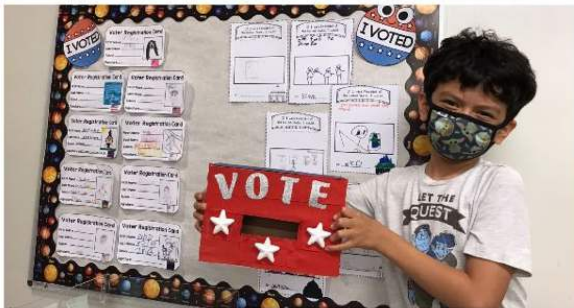

- 4 have received a job offer
- 1 is will waiting to hear back (interview was last week)
- 1 has an interview early next week

YOUR VOTE COUNTS
